THE WORKPLACE TRANSFORMED: 7 CRUCIAL LESSONS FROM THE GLOBAL PANDEMIC

May 2022
New York

In her book, Angela Reddock-Wright, a prominent employment law attorney turned mediator, arbitrator, workplace, and Title IX investigator, draws upon her decades-long expertise working with employers and employees to help them create healthy, dynamic, and thriving workplaces. At a time when businesses and individuals were forced to embrace massive changes caused by the COVID-19 pandemic and other global challenges, Reddock-Wright's book sheds light on issues that are critical to organizational success – at the height of the pandemic and beyond.

Packed with interesting examples, true stories and recent statistics, Reddock-Wright frames her insights in ways that are clear, interesting, and pragmatic and are beneficial for individuals, businesses, and organizations of all sizes. It's full of highly-practical takeaways for reimagining the workplace, adjusting to "the new normal," and transforming recent unprecedented challenges into lessons learned to help us better prepare both for the present and the future.

As Covid-19 has unexpectedly descended upon the world, turning our lives upside down and giving rise to unprecedented challenges, employers and employees alike have had to learn how to navigate a “new normal” at work. In her book, Angela Reddock-Wright, noted employment law attorney turned mediator and alternative dispute resolution professional, unveils the “4Es and 3Ds” – her unique formula for success in the post-pandemic workplace. Packed with invaluable insights, strategies, and examples, the book serves as a powerful tool to turn major setbacks into lessons learned and to prevail beyond the global pandemic and other challenging world events.

From elevating human resources to new ways to manage remote workers and to empowering teams around issues of diversity, equity and inclusion, employee engagement and activism, Reddock-Wright outlines a step-by-step process to embrace change, transform teams, and create more unified, productive, and successful organizations that deeply value their employees and the clients and customers they serve.

About the Author

Named a “Best Lawyer in America” by U.S. News & World Report, a “Top 50 Woman Attorney” in California by Super Lawyers, and a “Top California Employment Lawyer” by the Daily Journal, Angela Reddock-Wright is a distinguished employment and labor law attorney turned mediator, arbitrator, workplace, and Title IX investigator frequently called upon to help major corporations, organizations and their employees resolve some of their most complex disputes and challenges outside of the litigation and court process.

In addition, Reddock-Wright is a highly-sought-after TV and radio personality, public speaker, author, and blogger. She is the host of the popular weekly radio show “Legal Lens with Angela Reddock-Wright” on Tavis Smiley’s KBLA Talk 1580 of Los Angeles.

Reddock-Wright is passionate about making a difference in the American and international workplaces and has embraced as her life’s work a mission to help employers and employees to rise above the daily challenges they face, to create healthy, dynamic, and thriving workplaces.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Named a “Best Lawyer in America” by U.S. News & World Report, a “Top 50 California Woman Attorney” by Super Lawyers, and a “Top California Employment Lawyer” by the Daily Journal, among other accolades, Angela Reddock-Wright is a distinguished employment and labor law attorney, turned alternative dispute resolution (ADR) professional, serving as a mediator, arbitrator, and workplace & Title IX investigator.

Reddock-Wright is the founder and managing partner of the Reddock Law Group, an employment mediation and dispute resolution firm based in Los Angeles, California serving clients both nationally and globally. She also serves on the distinguished panel of mediators and arbitrators with Judicate West, a private dispute resolution firm based in California.

With more than 25 years of legal experience, and in her role as a mediator and neutral, Reddock-Wright works with employers and employees to help them successfully resolve some of the most complex disputes that inevitably arise in the workplace, especially in the post COVID-19 world, the era of #MeToo, employee activism, and strides for racial, gender and other areas of equity and diversity.
